

Joint Construction of Green Silk Roads: Scientific Pathway and Case Study
《共建绿色丝绸之路：科学路径与案例》

Author: Liu Weidong et al.
Publisher: The Commercial Press, Ltd. (July 2023)
ISBN: 978-7-100-22407-9
Contact: Wang Xinguang E-mail: wangxinguang@cp.com.cn
Rights: All rights available.

About the book: This book is an important achievement of the "Silk Road Environment" project of the Chinese Academy of Sciences, which is co-authored by many Chinese and foreign scholars. The book first proposes a strategic approach to building a Green Silk Road based on a review and analysis of policies, literature and reports, then analyzes in-depth the areas of resource and environmental carrying capacity, climate change, poverty reduction and sustainable livelihoods, and selects nine construction cases and typical countries for in-depth study. The book is richly illustrated and systematically explores the path of building the Green Silk Road from construction cases to key areas and countries, making it indispensable for an in-depth understanding of the construction of the "Belt and Road".

The Wisdom and Solutions of Chinese Modernization: A Study of China's Path under the view of Multiple Modernities
《中国式现代化的智慧与方案：多元现代性视阈下的中国道路研究》

Author: Peng Guohua
Publisher: The Commercial Press, Ltd. (March 2023)
ISBN: 978-7-100-21114-7
Contact: Wang Xinguang E-mail: wangxinguang@cp.com.cn
Rights: All rights available.

About the book: The realistic path of development of every country and nation is always profoundly reflective of, and dependent on, the spirit of the times formed by that country and nation at a particular stage of history. A major issue in the study of contemporary Chinese philosophy is to conclude the spirit of the times in contemporary China, to summarize the philosophical connotation of China's path, and to explain their interactive relationship.

From the perspective of pluralistic modernity and the comparison of Chinese and Western philosophies and cultures, the author analyzes the rich connotation and unique characteristics of the Chinese Way and Chinese modernity. In addition, the author proposes the concepts of "consultative rationality" and "freedom in the group" as the core concepts and main lines for interpreting China's road and Chinese modernity. How to make a comprehensive, profound and convincing interpretation and explanation of these two core concepts from the standpoint of the organic unity of text and empirical evidence, concept and system, theory and practice are the core of this book.

Core Values of Chinese Civilization
《中华文明的核心价值——国学流变与传统价值观》

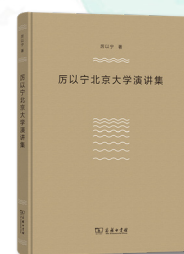

Author: Chen Lai
Publisher: The Commercial Press, Ltd. (September 2023)
ISBN: 978-7-100-22382-9
Contact: Wang Xinguang E-mail: wangxinguang@cp.com.cn
Rights: All rights available.

About the book: Core Values of Chinese Civilization deals with two main issues. First, it discusses the philosophical basis, inheritance and development of traditional Chinese values, and focuses on their impact on contemporary society. Second, it discusses the topic of core values in relation to traditional Chinese studies, involving the concept and evolution of the subject and, on this basis, combs through the development of traditional Chinese studies in modern times and the iconic masters.

Traditional values and national studies are issues that are currently receiving much attention from all sectors of society, both as topics of academic discussion and as topics of major public concern. The author is a known philosophical researcher as well as an active public speaker. Therefore the text is accurate and fluent, suitable for both professional discussions and popular reading.

Li Yining's Lectures at Peking University
《厉以宁北京大学演讲集》

Author: Li Yining
Publisher: The Commercial Press, Ltd. (September 2023)
ISBN: 978-7-100-22393-5
Contact: Wang Xinguang E-mail: wangxinguang@cp.com.cn
Rights: All rights available.

About the book: Divided into eight lectures, this book discusses macroeconomics and finance, farmers' income, employment, enterprise development, western development, education, business managers, and social trust, reflecting Li Yining's reflections in related fields in a more comprehensive manner. This book is a summary of Li Yining's lectures at Peking University, which are in-depth, written in a down-to-earth style, and demonstrated with vivid and relevant examples.

Research Methods of Asia History: Centering Eastern Sea Areas in Recent Years
《亚洲史的研究方法：以近世东部亚洲海域为中心》

Author: Ge Zhaoguang
Publisher: The Commercial Press, Ltd. (October 2022)
ISBN: 978-7-100-20945-8
Contact: Wang Xinguang E-mail: wangxinguang@cp.com.cn
Rights: All rights available.

About the book: This book is the lecture notes of professor Ge Zhaoguang's course "methods for the study of Asian or Eastern Asian History". The book consists of four units and thirteen lectures, including possibilities for the study of eastern Asian maritime history, European orientalism and Japanese orientalism, the circumnavigation of the East China Sea and the South China Sea as a historical world, examples of historical documents on modern eastern Asia from outside the region, as well as an introduction and course summary. Each unit starts with a question and is divided into lectures, followed by a discussion and suggested reading of the book; each lecture starts with an introduction and is then divided into several subsections. This book is a model of studying the history of East Asia from world history and world history from the history of East Asia. The whole book is complete and rich in content, which can guide readers to further reading and thinking.